STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Frequent floods, drought and other natural calamities have made the life of our kisans uncertain. Their capital investment in the shape of high starch seed (rice, maize, etc.), fertilizers, insecticides, tractors, pumping sets, etc. is always at stake. Crops worth crores of rupees are damaged and the farmers have to suffer a lot. This gives a set back to their will to grow more.

Every year crores of rupees are spent both by the Central and State Governments in compensating the farmers affected by floods, drought and other natural calamities which ultimately increase the burden on the tax-payer without creating a sense of confidence among farmers. If this amount of public fund is utilized for purposes of ensuring crops, it would help the farmers and generate a sense of confidence among them and, at the same time, the burden on the Exchequer would not be more than what is being spent by way of relief given to the victims of natural calamities.

The compulsory crop insurance scheme would give the farmers an incentive to devote their whole hearted attention towards improving the agricultural produce both in quantity and quality. This would certainly result in economic progress of the country.

Hence this Bill.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill seeks to establish the Crop Insurance Corporation of India. Taking into consideration the enormity of the insurance scheme which the present Bill seeks to achieve, it has been provided in clause 4 that the original capital of the Crop Insurance Corporation shall be a sum not exceeding two hundred crores of rupees which has to be provided by the Central Government from time to time from the Consolidated Fund of India after due appropriation made by Parliament. Other expenditure which might have to be incurred in setting up of the Crop Insurance Corporation are not ascertainable at this stage.

The recurring expenditure of the Corporation will be met from the Fund of the Corporation.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 7 empowers the Central Government to formulate a scheme providing for compulsory insurance of crops.

Clause 14 empowers the Central Government to make rules to carry out the purposes of the Act. Clause 15 provides for making of regulations by the Corporation. These powers, delegated to the Central Government and the Corporation, relate to matters of details and are of normal character.

BILL No. 107 OF 1974

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-fifth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 1974.

Amendment of Article
124.

2. In article 124 of the Constitution, in clause (2), after the first proviso, the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:—

“Provided further that the appointment of every Judge of the Supreme Court shall be subject to ratification by Parliament.”.

Amend-
article 155

3. In article 155 of the Constitution, the following proviso shall be inserted at the end, namely:—

“Provided that the appointment of the Governor of a State shall be subject to ratification by Parliament.”.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In a democratic framework, the function of Supreme Court Judges and Governors assume great significance. Any arbitrariness on their part or their partisan attitude imperils our democracy as well as our Constitution, particularly in a constitutional crisis.

If the appointments of Supreme Court Judges and Governors are ratified by Parliament, it will act as a desirable pressure on the Government in the matter of their appointments.

Hence this Bill.
